Climbing Out of the Money Pit— Cost Control in International Arbitration

International arbitration proceedings have shown that generating substantial costs is not just a provincial trait of U.S. courts. Join Alan Crain (arbitrator and former GC of Baker Hughes), Teresa Garcia-Reyes (Baker Hughes), Yanett Quiroz (ICDR), Alberto Ravell (ConocoPhillips), and moderator Will Russell (Reed Smith) as they share their experience-honed guidance on how to control costs and maximize value in international disputes. The panel will discuss strategies and innovations to control costs in international arbitration from the perspectives of in-house counsel, outside counsel, arbitrators, and arbitration administrators. Join us for an interactive presentation with cocktails and hors d'oeuvres to follow. Please feel free to email questions and discussion topics of interest to wrussell@reedsmith.com.
