GDPR Roadmap to Compliance: Effective from 25 May 2018

1. Governance
Identify your existing governance structure, including the key stakeholders responsible for compliance, and the policies and procedures governing the processing of personal data.

2. Accountability
Determine your organisation’s demonstrable data protection compliance structure.

3. Data Processing Inventory
Understand and record your data processing activities, building an inventory of who, what, where, why and how.

4. Security & Data Breach
Determine what security measures you have in place to protect data, and consider what procedures you have to deal with potential data breaches.

5. Dealings with Data Processors
Review your processor due diligence process, and existing agreements with processors to assess adequacy of data protection provisions.

6. Cross-Border Data Transfers
Identify your cross-border transfers outside the EEA and the legal mechanisms you have to govern any transfers.

7. Gap Analysis
Analyse your existing data protection compliance efforts against requirements under the GDPR to assess what needs to be updated or newly introduced.

8. Remediation
Once you have considered your existing compliance framework, identify a set of recommendations for achieving GDPR compliance to build a remediation program.

9. Implementation
Implement your remediation program ensuring your practices, policies and procedures align with GDPR requirements. Aim to embed your compliance program across the various functions of your organisation.

10. Data Protection Compliance Pack
A key principle of the GDPR is that of accountability. This means having demonstrable compliance. Collate all relevant compliance information and documents in one, organised pack to easily maintain and audit your compliance programme and offer up required information to your supervisory authority, if need be. Include your:

- Policies, Procedures and Toolkits
- List of Security Measures
- Data Processing Inventory
- List of Key Stakeholders and Contact Info
